

Miracle Question

Imagine if...overnight something happens to all the individuals (clients and colleagues) and families you work with...

Then...you woke up and came to work the next day they were all cooperative and wanting to find solutions together to resolve the issues that brought the individual/family to the attention of the agency.

What would that be like, what would be different?