

Law:

The legislative pronouncement of the rules which should guide one's actions in society. They continually change with human experience and as the public conscience changes and views matters from a different viewpoint.