

When to Petition Juvenile Court

- The child needs emergency care.
- The unwillingness or inability of the parents or other custodians to accept the help offered to change the situation.
- The possibility of further abuse continuing in the home is greater than the benefits to the child.
- Abandonment or desertion of the child.

