

Student Abuse Quiz

1. All school employees, except the administrator, meet the definition of perpetrator under the CPSL.
2. Any child under the age of 18 who is enrolled in a public or private school, intermediate unit or area vocational-technical school can be classified as a student.
3. When a report of suspected student abuse is received by the county agency from the parent, the agency should direct the parent to contact the school administrator.
4. If the agency has a contract with a facility and a school employee of that facility is identified as a school employee suspected of student abuse, the agency should conduct a thorough investigation into the matter, prior to filing a report with ChildLine.
5. Administrators should report suspected student abuse to CPS and the police.

6. A child who has multiple bruises as a result of being hit by a school employee is a victim of student abuse.

7. A teacher who is being paid by the parents to tutor their child would be considered a perpetrator of child abuse, rather than a school employee responsible for student abuse, if that teacher sexually abused the child while tutoring the child.

8. The interviews of the child shall be conducted jointly by law enforcement, CPS, and the school administrator.

9. If a school employee hits a student in the mouth and knocks out the student's permanent teeth, it could be considered student abuse.

10. A school bus driver is not considered a school employee.
